Natan Sharansky

in conversation with

Irwin Cotler, M.P.

Wednesday, July 15 at 7:30 PM

Natan Sharansky, one of the greatest human rights activists of our time, in a dialogue with Irwin Cotler, world-renowned international counsel to prisoners of conscience.

Natan Sharansky has served as Chairman of the Executive of the Jewish Agency for Israel (JAFI) since June 2009. A former Prisoner of Zion, Mr. Sharansky spent nine years in a Soviet prison due to his human rights activism and his desire to make aliyah. Upon his release in 1986, he immediately traveled to Jerusalem, where he lives to this day. Mr. Sharansky served as Deputy Prime Minister of Israel and was the founder of the political party Yisra'el B'Aliyah. He is the author of three books: Fear No Evil, The Case for Democracy and Defending Identity: Its Indispensable Role in Protecting Democracy. Mr. Sharansky was awarded the Congressional Gold Medal in 1986 and the Presidential Medal of Freedom in 2006.

Irwin Cotler is the Member of Parliament for Mount Royal and the Liberal Party of Canada's Critic for Rights and Freedoms and International Justice. He is a former Minister of Justice & Attorney General of Canada and an international human rights lawyer. He has served as Counsel to prisoners of conscience including Andrei Sakharov, Natan Sharansky and Nelson Mandela, and was Chair of the International Commission of Inquiry into the Fate and Whereabouts of Raoul Wallenberg. Prof. Cotler is the recipient of 11 honorary doctorates, the Order of Canada and has recently been awarded the Canadian Bar Association's President's Award, the International Raoul Wallenberg Foundation's Centennial Medal and was elected 2014 Canadian Parliamentarian of the Year.

Rabbis, Résumés and Eulogies

Self-restraint, steadiness and a sense of purpose slowly help us to craft and sustain our souls.

IN THE ROAD TO CHARACTER, DAVID BROOKS SETS OUT TO recover what he describes as “a vast moral vocabulary and set of moral tools, developed over centuries and handed down from generation to generation.” To reclaim that moral vocabulary and path of life, he consciously adopts a religious vocabulary and vector. He notes, “We don’t live for happiness, we live for holiness. Day to day we seek out pleasure, but deep down, human beings are endowed with moral imagination [and] seek to lead lives not just of pleasure, but of purpose, righteousness, and virtue.”

A committed Jew (one of his sons served in the IDF), Brooks uses a theological framework developed by Rabbi Joseph Soloveitchik to interpret the two narratives of Creation. Soloveitchik suggested that there are two types of human beings portrayed in the first chapters of Genesis. Adam I seeks to conquer and control, to achieve and accomplish in the technological world. Adam II is committed to reflection and rumination, contemplation and the development of character and culture. “To nurture your Adam I career, it makes sense to cultivate your strengths. To nurture your Adam II moral core, it is necessary to confront your weaknesses.”

As we slowly slide into the summer, many graduates will be given Oh, The Places You’ll Go! One of the lines expresses what Brooks terms “Big Self”, emphasizing following your passions, a vision that involves self-trust, self-love, self-expression, self-esteem and self-actualization.

“You won’t lag behind, because you’ll have the speed. You’ll pass the whole gang and you’ll soon take the lead. Wherever you fly, you’ll be best of the best. Wherever you go, you will top all the rest.”

Dr. Seuss then adds an awareness of failure and the need for humility: “Except when you don’t. Because, sometimes, you won’t.” Brooks writes that “the awareness that you are an underdog in the struggle against your own weakness” is the starting point of the road to character and spiritual sustainability. Self-restraint, steadiness and a sense of purpose slowly help us to craft and sustain our souls.

I am drawn to the strength of soul and moral vision that Natan Sharansky cultivated during his years in Soviet prison. He will be our guest on July 15, in dialogue with Professor Irwin Cotler, to discuss human rights and Jewish life. This is one of the events planned to mark the 60th anniversary of our congregation. I hope it will lead to continued personal and communal reflection on who we are and where we want to be.

Living in what Brooks calls “the age of the selfie”, we valorize the Lone Ranger, the solitary soul who somehow succeeds. But Brooks points to community as critical to our moral development. “Much of our character talk today is individualistic, like all our talk, but character is formed in community”.

Returning to Brooks’ riff on Rabbi Soloveitchik, Adam I is career-oriented and ambitious. Adam II wants to nurture core moral qualities. Adam I is about your résumé, while Adam II is about your eulogy. “The résumé virtues are the ... skills that you bring to the job market and that contribute to external success. The eulogy virtues ... get talked about at your funeral, the ones that exist at the core of your being—whether you are kind, brave, honest or faithful; what kind of relationships you formed. ... [But] most of us have clearer strategies for how to achieve career success than we do for how to develop a profound character.”

The great Protestant theologian, Reinhold Niebuhr, reminded us of the need to nurture an extended perspective. “Nothing that is worth doing can be achieved in our lifetime; therefore we must be saved by hope. Nothing which is true or beautiful or good makes complete sense in any immediate context of history; therefore we must be saved by faith. Nothing we do, however virtuous, can be accomplished alone; therefore we must be saved by love.”

Niebuhr’s teaching is deeply Jewish. As Brooks notes, “In a sense, we are all ultimately saved by grace. It may come in the form of love from friends and family, in the assistance of an unexpected stranger, or from God. But the message is the same ... [other] hands are holding you up. We are all stumblers, and the beauty and meaning of life are in ... trying to become more graceful as the years go by.”

In 1961, ten years after Niebuhr’s book, Joan Didion wrote an essay in Vogue (later reprinted in Slouching Toward Bethlehem) about the development of moral character. “Character— the willingness to accept responsibility for one's own life—is the source from which self-respect springs. Self-respect is something that our grandparents ... had instilled in them, young, a certain discipline, the sense that one lives by doing things one does not particularly want to do, by putting fears and doubts to one side, by weighing immediate comforts against the possibility of larger, even intangible, comforts... Self-respect is a discipline, a habit of mind that can never be faked but can be developed, trained, coaxed forth.”

Twenty years later, Alasdair MacIntyre wrote After Virtue to challenge the trajectory of modern philosophy. He argued that classical moral discourse was in better shape to cultivate the habits and knowledge that would lead to a virtuous life. Attacking the contemporary cultural emphasis on individual accomplishment, MacIntyre argued that virtues can only be comprehended through their relation to a real community rooted in history and tradition.

Brooks doesn't cite Niebuhr, Didion or MacIntyre, but his book has a similar arc. “We've accidentally left this moral tradition behind. ... we've lost this language, this way of organizing life. We're not bad. But... we've lost the understanding of how character is built... The central fallacy of modern life is the belief that accomplishments of the [résumé] can produce deep satisfaction... The ultimate joys are moral joys.”

Perhaps because I am reflecting on the conclusion of my years at Beth Tzedec, I think of the difference between the résumé and the eulogy. If the résumé model emphasizes what we can accomplish before we move on to something else, the eulogy virtues are about consistency and commitment over the long haul.

Over the years at Beth Tzedec, I have tried to emphasize the moral vocabulary of Judaism, the ritual and ethical practices of Torah and the importance of community. I have directed attention to strengthening internal Jewish life as well as the significance of engagement with other sectors of Canadian society. I have stressed the importance of a long perspective and a gradual process of Jewish transformation—for individuals and communities. I strive to motivate our community to deepen its involvement with Jewish life, and remain painfully aware of the gap between aspirations and actuality.

Brooks offers some advice that recent graduates and veteran grandparents, synagogue leaders and Jews in the pews might equally take to heart. “A turning point in a life toward maturity is looking inside yourself and saying, “What's the weakness that I have that leads to behavior that I'm not proud of?” ... For me, it used to be... life on the surface ... politics or... superficial success only. I think I'm a little better at that, but I still have the core sin of wanting everybody to love me and avoiding conflict. And so I have to look at that everyday and figure out: How can I be a little better on that?”

As we head into the summer, let's each focus on one virtue and ask, “How can I be a little better on that?”

Sharing a Mission

By lending our voice, we participate in the transformation and strengthening of the kehillot.

AS I WRITE THIS COLUMN, BETH TZEDEC IS PREPARING TO host Rabbi Steven Wernick, CEO of the United Synagogue of Conservative Judaism. His topic for his address to the Congregation on Shabbat, April 25 is The Next Great Jewish Paradigm Shift: Creating Intentional Communities. In my inaugural Bulletin column, written at the time we rejoined USCJ last summer and very much informed by our reaffiliation, I wrote: “I want Beth Tzedec to transform the way our members experience their lives Jewishly. I want to foster engagement, spiritual fulfillment and camaraderie in our congregation. I want us to deepen our connection to Judaism and our People and be among the leading Conservative shuls not just in Toronto, but in the Conservative movement.” Let me share with you how this aligns with our membership in USCJ.

This is USCJ’s stated vision, the cornerstone of its strategy: “The United Synagogue of Conservative Judaism is a community of kehillot—sacred communities—committed to a dynamic Judaism that is learned and passionate, authentic and pluralistic, joyful and accessible, egalitarian and traditional. Our kehillot create the conditions for a powerful and vibrant Jewish life, empowering Jews in North America to seek the presence of God, to seek meaning and purpose in Torah and mitzvot, to fully engage with Israel, and to be inspired by Judaism to improve the world and the Jewish people. The United Synagogue of Conservative Judaism creates the spiritual, intellectual and managerial network that enables each of our kehillot to fulfill its sacred mission and connects all our kehillot with a common sense of community, shared mission and purpose. Together with other centers of energy identified with Conservative Judaism, we articulate and disseminate our approach to Judaism.”

It is through our membership in USCJ that we can not only join in this common sense of community, shared mission and purpose, but also be counted among the leaders in Conservative Judaism. By lending our voice to its mission, we participate in the transformation and strengthening of kehillot, including our own, in efforts to inspire meaningful prayer, sustain a culture of lifelong Jewish learning, nurture religious and spiritual growth and promote excellence in kehillah leadership.

Are we there yet? No. What are we doing to get there? In short, the answer is devoting our energy and resources towards this transformation as quickly as we can. In the March 2015 Bulletin I informed you of the renovations we are embarking upon. These changes are necessary if we are to be a vibrant part of the next generation’s Jewish life. At the same time, Rabbi Baruch Frydman-Kohl’s exemplary service to our Congregation will be nearing the quarter-century mark and he will be transitioning to Rabbi Emeritus when he retires July 31, 2017. We will be seeking a new spiritual leader to guide us through the next quarter century. We are currently well underway in producing a new strategic plan. We expect it to be completed later this year. Carolyn Kolers and Larry Wallach, co-chairs of the Strategic Planning Committee, have an article appearing on page 21 in this Bulletin and I invite you to provide them with your input. Our search for new rabbinic leadership will be guided by this strategic plan.

All of which begs a key question: why is there a need for transformation? My answer: so we may create a Beth Tzedec for the next generation that builds and improves upon the Beth Tzedec our parents and grandparents bequeathed to us. It’s what the leaders in the 1950s did for their children and it’s what we owe to them and to our children.

Summer Plans

Each trip we take broadens our horizons, teaching us not only about other cultures but about our place as Jews in relationship to those cultures.

THERE IS A LOT TO ENJOY IN THE summer. Aliza and I love to stay home. We spend hours puttering in our garden and begin every day with a cup of tea on our deck as we literally stop to smell the roses. It's interesting to note that in Judaism, there is a special blessing for when you smell roses (different from the brakhot for fragrant herbs, different from that of aromatic fruits, and different from that of miscellaneous fragrances). So there we sit, enjoying these gifts from HaShem.

When we're home, we delight in having people over—at our Shabbat table, in our sukkah, any Yom Tov meal, or just to sit singing and schmoozing on a lazy summer afternoon. Home is comfort, home is familiar. It means friends, food, music and laughter.

In contrast to this, and what might seem incongruous to some, is that as much as we are homebodies, Aliza and I simply adore travel and seeing the world together. Aliza always says, "Put me on a plane and wake me when they're speaking a different language!" We love our adventures—it almost doesn't matter to where—and we love them even more when our friends are with us to share the experience. For us, travel also means friends, food, music and laughter.

Last summer Aliza and I led a Musical Journey to England and Normandy which was just spectacular. In previous years we have led tour groups to Poland, Eastern Europe, Germany and Israel. Each trip has been unique and special, broadening our horizons, teaching us not only about other cultures but about our place as Jews in relationship to those cultures. We develop an understanding of how we fit in, we learn our People's history within these lands, we celebrate the music of the area while connecting with the local Jewish communities. Our greatest privilege is that we have been able to share these experiences with Toronto friends, old and new.

Many of you have asked if we're leading a trip this summer. Not this summer. I'll be writing new music, finishing some recordings and spending time in our garden with the roses. But summer 2016? Mark your calendar, fasten your seatbelts and get ready for an amazing and unforgettable experience....

In 2016 we're heading to Spain! The Cantors Assembly, my fraternity, is the largest organization of cantors in the world. In 2009 we organized a historical mission to Poland (my first trip to the birthplace of my father) and in 2012 another one to Germany (my first trip to the birthplace of my mother). These Missions for Cantors and their congregants are life-changing, featuring daily and nightly musical performances while touring the sites and learning the history there.

This trip to Spain is going to be phenomenal. The reason the Cantors Assembly doesn't schedule a trip every year is that each one takes at least two to three years to plan. I've been to Spain before as a tourist and as a performer, but it will be a singular experience seeing Barcelona, Seville, Madrid and other cities with over 300 cantors and their congregants. The fascinating history of Spanish Jewry unfolds like the plot to a movie thriller: the traces of Jewish glory in the 1,000 years before the Inquisition, the Inquisition itself, the Expulsion, the tortures, the hiding, the evolution that leads to today's Spanish Jewish communities.

As I write this, the Cantors Assembly is working to secure Stephen Berk for daily lectures. Professor Berk has been with us for all of the previous Cantors Assembly missions, and Beth Tzedec members know by now that he brings history to life and mesmerizes us with his presentations. The musical performances of the Mission are also in the final planning stages, and I can't wait to tell you more details as they become confirmed.

So why am I telling you this now, over a year in advance? Because every time I lead a tour, inevitably more dozens of people approach me and tell me that they would have loved to join us but that their plans were already made by the time our trip was announced. So here you go—mark your calendars for July 3 to 14, 2016. Join Aliza and me for our first information session in just a few weeks on Tuesday, June 23, to get all the exciting details.

There's so much to see in this world. Let's see it together!

I wish you a restful and joyous summer.

—Cantor Simon

SUMMER SPEAKER & FILM SERIES

Wednesdays at 7:30 PM

Spending summer in the city this year? Join us for a captivating series of presentations and screenings. No charge.

July 8: Gaza Plus One Year: A Volunteer Report from the Front Line with Alan Zucker

Through photos, videos and film footage from Israeli, Palestinian and other news sources, Alan Zucker will share his experiences as a civilian volunteer at the IDF Southern Command Centre at Re'im following the war in Gaza.

July 15: Natan Sharansky in conversation with Irwin Cotler, MP

Natan Sharansky, one of the greatest human rights activists of our time, will be in discussion with Irwin Cotler, world-renowned international counsel to prisoners of conscience. Presented at Beth Tzedec in partnership with Beth Emeth Bais Yehuda and Temple Sinai as part of each congregation's 60th Anniversary celebrations.

July 22: Zero Motivation

In this 2014 film, a unit of female Israeli soldiers at a remote desert base bide their time as they count down the minutes until they can return to civilian life. Running time: 1h 41 min

July 29: Ida

This 2013 Polish film tells the story of Anna, a young novice nun in 1960s Poland, who is on the verge of taking her vows when she discovers a dark family secret dating back to the years of the Nazi occupation. 2015 Oscar Winner—Best Foreign Language Film. Running time: 1h 20 min

August 5: The Farewell Party

This 2014 film is a compassionate dark comedy about friendship and knowing when to say goodbye. A group of friends at a Jerusalem retirement home build a machine for self-euthanasia in order to help their terminally ill friend. When rumours of the machine begin to spread, more and more people ask for their help, and the friends are faced with an emotional dilemma. Running time: 1h 35 min

August 12: TBA

In Celebration of Adult Learning

The beauty of adult learning is the opportunity to ask questions that don't occur to children and use methodologies inappropriate for adolescents.

RIDING THE TTC, ONE CANNOT HELP BUT NOTICE THE plethora of advertisements for Continuing Education. In a recent subway ride, my entire car was plastered with banners boasting of a particular university's 88 certificate programs and over 1,500 courses, seminars and workshops—all aimed at mature students.

While the rest of the world is seemingly catching up, our tradition has long trumpeted the value of adult learning, especially for those who did not learn in their younger years.

The collection Avot d'Rabbi Natan (A) tells of the great leader and scholar Rabbi Akiva. At the age of 40 he had yet to learn a single word of Torah. One day he found himself standing alongside a well. He inquired, "who hollowed this stone?" He was told, "it was water that fell upon it day upon day." Akiva immediately reasoned that if something as soft as water can hollow a stone, surely the words of Torah can enter his heart. He immediately left to learn Torah.

This story is inevitably told to Jewish adults engaged in a journey of study. It is appropriate, of course, but not sufficient.

On May 2, Beth Tzedec celebrated the graduation of ten students from Adult Skills and Knowledge (ASK). For two hours every Monday evening over the course of two years, learners spent an hour improving their ritual skills—practising Hebrew or learning to chant Torah and Haftarah. The second hour focused on Jewish knowledge including Tanakh, Mishna, Midrash, Talmud, Holidays, Lifecycles and Contemporary Issues in Jewish Life. As many of these learners participated in the class and the graduation as part of celebrating becoming an Adult Bar/Bat Mitzvah, the program and its graduation were particularly moving.

For some, the story of Rabbi Akiva is apt. They felt that perhaps they were simply unable, too hard or stubborn, to learn Hebrew or read from the Torah. The slow, steady approach of Rev. Hanick and Cantor Ezer proved them wrong. For others it wasn't a feeling of potential inability, but rather a lack of earlier opportunity. This class was their first chance to jump into serious Jewish study. And they loved it.

The beauty of adult learning is the opportunity to ask questions that don't occur to children and use methodologies inappropriate for adolescents. In ASK we explored not only what is in the Torah, but why does Torah matter. We learned not only about Jewish lifecycle practices, but how they were influenced by their historical environment. We were linguists, sociologists and anthropologists. We were adult learning at its best.

ASK will not be repeated next year, but Beth Tzedec will continue to offer a tremendous number of ongoing classes and one-time lectures. May Torah rain down on us all.

Celebrating our ASK Graduates

On Shabbat, May 2, we recognized these remarkable individuals who dedicated two years of study in the ASK program, culminating for many in an Adult Bar/Bat Mitzvah.

Connecting with Hebrew— Making Hebrew Meaningful

Hebrew connects events across centuries and connects Jews across the globe.

I AM NOT A FLUENT HEBREW SPEAKER.

Even with a career in Jewish education, a Master's degree in Bible, a year spent living in Israel, eight other visits and thousands of hours in Hebrew class in elementary school, high school and university, I have not mastered the Hebrew language.

Sure, I can get by with the Hebrew I do know. I can hold my own in a conversation with an Israeli, I can express myself well, I can read and understand a newspaper article written in Hebrew, and my accent is not too 'Anglo-Saxon', as an Israeli might say. If you asked me a couple of years ago if I was a fluent Hebrew speaker, I probably would have said yes.

It is amazing how much one's child can humble them. I have discovered my lack of true fluency as I continue to try and speak with my daughter in Hebrew as much as possible. I have realized that there are so many Hebrew words that I don't know: diaper, thumb, to wave, to ride in a stroller, to nap. Of course many of these words are things that weren't part of my regular English vocabulary until a year ago either, but trying to speak a second language as a first language quickly leads to the discovery of many vocabulary gaps.

Hebrew is the language of our people, of our texts, and more recently, of our homeland and nation-state.

Writing a few days before Yom Ha'atzmaut (Israeli Independence Day), I think about the importance of Hebrew in forming a national identity in pre-1948 Israel, and how important Hebrew has been in connecting Diaspora and Israeli Jews in the decades since. As we count the days toward Shavuot, I think about the ancient Hebrew words that were inscribed by God's finger onto two tablets and carried down Mount Sinai. I think about the two words uttered by our ancestors, Na'aseh V'Nishma, (we will do and we will hear) in response to the awesome moment of becoming God's chosen people.

In some ways, these two events could not be further or more different from each other. They took place over 3,000 years apart, one in Israel and one in the Sinai desert. The events at Mount Sinai ultimately led to the Golden Calf, 40 years of wandering in the desert and the beginning of a pattern of our ancestors chasing after false gods. The proclamation of the State of Israel and the eventual military victory in the War of Independence, meanwhile, led to the establishment of a flourishing modern democracy that has improved the lives of its citizens and of Jews worldwide. The receiving of the ten commandments was a private affair only witnessed by the Israelites while the establishment of Israel took place on the world stage for all to see.

What unites the celebration of these two events that are only one month apart on our calendar? The Hebrew language. Hebrew connects events across centuries and connects Jews across the globe. Hebrew allows Jews from different countries to communicate in a common language that also conveys a sense of connection, of shared history and of cultural understanding.

Learning to read, write, speak and understand Hebrew is a crucial skill for participation in the Jewish community and today's Jewish world, even if one's vocabulary is limited. At Beth Tzedec's Congregational School, we have been experimenting with a variety of approaches for teaching Hebrew to our students, including the use of activities, games, props, sports and the arts. Our students are learning by doing, are interacting in Hebrew with real Israelis—our shinshinim—and are being taught that Hebrew is both the language of our Torah and the Siddur, of modern Israelis and of Jews around the world.

For more information about our Congregational School's approach to teaching Hebrew, contact me at dsilverman@beth-tzedec.org or 416-781-3514 ext. 231.

The Shavuot Ten Commandments

Some ideas to help make Shavuot a fun time in your home!

CRAFTS, RECIPES AND DISCUSSIONS can go a long way to helping make Shavuot more meaningful for the whole family.

1. Help your family recognize that Shavuot is coming. We count the Omer—the days between Passover and Shavuot. Make a family Omer counting chart and count it together at dinner time.
2. On Shavuot, it is customary to eat dairy because it was a time when we weren't yet given the laws of Kashrut. Have a family discussion about what being kosher means to you. Are there new rules you would add? Why?
3. Do a family cheesecake tasting. Make or buy a variety of cheesecakes and rank the best ones. (Please share winning recipes with me!)
4. Make ice cream in a bag! (It's so easy and fun.) Here is a link with instructions: teachnet.com/lesson-plans/science/plastic-bag-ice-cream-recipe.
5. Make a Family Ten Commandments. It can outline rules of the house and what is important to your family.
6. Try making this Ten Commandments origami: biblebeltbalabusta.com/2011/05/29/shavuot-origami-for-kids-ten-commandments.
7. Shavuot is known as a time to stay up all night studying. Stay up later than normal and pick something interesting to study as a family. (One suggestion could be reading the narrative of the receiving of the Ten Commandments—Exodus Chapter 19-20.)
8. Read the story of Ruth which is traditionally read on Shavuot.
9. Get creative with food: Use food as a tool to educate and engage. Try making these Mount Sinai Muffins! www.kveller.com/article/mt-sinai-muffins.
10. PJ Library has wonderful stories for Shavuot. Sign up to receive one free book a month and check out their list of Shavuot-related books at www.pjlibrary.org.

We are looking for host families for our new shinshinim, Avishag Bergstein (female) and Yarin Sasson (male). Our two enthusiastic young Israelis can't wait to get to know the Beth Tzedec family and spend time with you and your children. Can you make a three-month commitment to welcome Avishag and Yarin into your home? To learn about the opportunity to be a host family, contact Todd Beallor at tbeallor@sympatico.ca.

Join those in our community who have had the privilege of making this special live connection to Israel, a once in a lifetime gift for your entire family.

A 'Virtual Hello' from our New Shinshinim

Take moment to 'meet' Yarin Sasson and Avishag Bergstein, our 2015-2016 shinshinim, through the introduction video they have posted to Vimeo. You can access the link at <https://vimeo.com/125787147>.

Your Voice / Our Future

Come, Listen and be Heard!

RSVPs appreciated (to help us plan for a successful evening).

Contact Avital at info@beth-tzedec.org or 416-781-3511.

If you would be interested in taking part in a Strategic Planning Focus Group, send an email to Carolyn Kolers and Larry Wallach at strategicplanning@beth-tzedec.org.

Games Afternoons

Thursdays from
2:00 to 4:00 PM

(Bridge begins at 1:30 PM)

Join us on Thursday afternoons for a social activity program of Mah-Jong, Bridge and other card and board games. All games are for beginners and seasoned veterans alike. RSVPs preferred. No charge.

For information or to RSVP, contact the Synagogue office at 416-781-3511 or info@beth-tzedec.org.

An Update from the Strategic Planning Committee

Town Halls and Focus Groups offer the chance for members to share their perspectives.

THE STRATEGIC PLANNING COMMITTEE HAS SPENT THE winter completing the first part of its mandate—identifying the issues that the committee thinks Beth Tzedec will confront over the next five years. We have been working with assistance and support from our strategic planning consultant, Christine Govern, of MAS (Management Advisory Services).

We expect to complete the final part of our mandate—to present a proposed plan to the Board of Governors for its consideration and approval—later this year.

The purpose of the strategic planning process is to enable us to define who and what we want to be and stand for as a community. Where do we want to focus? What is important to us? How do we wish to conduct ourselves in the future (in terms of prayer, life cycle events, education, programming, hesed and tikkun olam)? What direction do we want to give to the Rabbinic Search Committee charged with finding our new Senior Rabbi following Rabbi Frydman-Kohl's retirement in July 2017?

The missing piece needed, before the committee can move forward in creating the strategic plan, is your input and feedback. To that end, we are creating three opportunities for you, our synagogue members, to share your thoughts and perspectives with us.

Town Hall Meetings—Thursday, May 21 and Monday, June 1, 7:30 PM

These two Town Hall meetings, open to the entire congregation, will each consist of a structured conversation led by a facilitator (our strategic planning consultant, Christine Govern), designed to capture the views of our members. You do not need to prepare in advance. Each session will last approximately two hours, and you should only attend one. Your participation is critically important, and we hope to see many of you there. We have chosen two dates to provide some flexibility – please choose the most convenient date for you.

Strategic Planning Focus Groups – May/June/July 2015

We want to be certain that many different voices are heard as part of this strategic planning process. We are therefore organizing a number of specific Focus Groups, and we encourage your participation. These small groups will involve a structured discussion with a facilitator (again, our strategic planning consultant, Christine Govern). If you fit within any of these groups, we urge you to sign up to participate. Initial groups will include:

- High school students
- People in their 20s and 30s (single and married)
- Parents whose children are all in preschool or younger
- Parents with school-aged children
- Interfaith families
- Singles in their 40s or beyond (including widows/widowers and divorcees)

While all of our members are important to us, there are certain segments of our community that we especially want to encourage to participate, to help us plan to be more inclusive. If you or your partner have been (or are currently) involved in conversion to Judaism, if you identify as a member of the LGBTQ community, or if you or a family member has a disability, we urge you to attend a relevant Focus Group and give voice to your specific reality.

Congregational Survey

We are currently working to develop a congregational survey that will be distributed electronically after the results of the Town Halls and Focus Groups have been analyzed. We encourage everyone to complete the survey and share your thoughts candidly and anonymously.

If you would be willing to attend (or host!) one of the Focus Groups, please email us.

If you want to ensure that you will be included in the online survey, please email us.

If you just want to share your thoughts, please email us (or stop us in shul when you see us).

And please let Avital at the office know which one of the Town Hall meetings you can attend (via email to info@beth-tzedec.org). RSVPs are not required, but they will help us plan for a successful evening. We look forward to hearing from you!

Rabbi Jonathan Porath comes to Toronto from Jerusalem where he has lived with his family since making aliyah in 1984. He received his BA from Brandeis University, his MA from Columbia University and was ordained rabbi by the Jewish Theological Seminary of America. He is also the 18th generation of rabbis in his family. Rabbi Porath recently completed 15 years as a member of the Senior Staff of the Russian Department of the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee. He is the author of Jews In Russia: The Last Four Centuries and recently published the memoirs of his late father, Rabbi Tzvi H. Porath^{z"l}.

Celebrating Tilly Oslender on her 108th birthday

IT'S NOT EVERY DAY THAT YOU MEET someone who is 108 years old, let alone someone like our Beth Tzedec member, Tilly Oslender.

I met Tilly long before I started working at Beth Tzedec because we live on the same floor at our apartment building. She still lives on her own, and just recently, when I went to visit her, she was busy preparing food for the upcoming Passover seder.

I have always admired Tilly's energy, attitude and overall positive disposition. Rain or shine, regardless of the weather conditions, she is out walking with her walker, running errands, playing Bridge, going to the casino; nothing stops this small bundle of strength. Occasionally, I see her take Wheel-Trans if the weather is too extreme, but most of the time she is out walking on her own.

After having had several conversations with Tilly, I came to realize that she is an intelligent, witty and spunky woman who has a wonderful outlook on life. I learned that she was born in a small town in the Ukraine called Gaisin and her family eventually moved to Monastrich.

When Tilly was 22 years of age, one of her sisters who had come to Canada before her brought Tilly to Toronto. Tilly has shared so many stories with me about her life, how she tried to bring her other sisters and brother to Canada, and how she became one of the best seamstresses in Toronto, starting at a salary of three dollars a week. There are so many interesting stories to share and she is always happy to do so.

One day at work, Tilly's name was mentioned and I decided at that moment to call the Canadian Jewish News (CJN) to see if they would do an article about her, as her 108th birthday was fast approaching. I thought it would be a great human interest story. Not surprisingly, they jumped at the opportunity and agreed to do it.

I called Tilly's daughter, Roslyn, to ask if she thought her mother would be willing to do the article. Roslyn was not very optimistic, but agreed that it was worth a try. She called me back just a few minutes later and said that, to her surprise, her mother would do it. Apparently, in the past, Tilly had been asked to be interviewed by numerous newspapers wanting to write an article about her, but she always refused because of a long-standing superstition (there is a story behind that as well). For some reason, when we asked her to do it this time, she agreed right away and said, "I don't see why not."

The reporter from the CJN came to Tilly's apartment and spent about an hour interviewing her about her life and the secret to her longevity. She attributes everything to hard work, a little bit of luck and the love and commitment of her daughter Roslyn. With Tilly and Roslyn's permission, I videotaped the interview so they could have it to share with their family and friends. I also kept a copy for myself to share with my friends and family, as it is quite an amazing story. Tilly is such an inspirational woman, and even though almost six decades separate us, I feel very close to her and am proud to call her my friend.

On the day of Tilly's 108th birthday, as they do for each of their birthdays, Tilly and Roslyn came to Beth Tzedec for services to thank God for granting them another birthday. We had a cake for her and sang to her during the daily minyan breakfast. She "felt like a celebrity", as so many people came to wish her a happy birthday, take photos with her and share in her special day. Tilly was also invited into one of the classrooms to meet the Junior Kindergarten kids and answer some of their questions.

The CJN article appeared in the March 25, 2015 issue. If you are interested in reading it, you can download the article at www.cjnews.com/news/tilly-oslender-cant-explain-how-shes-lived-108.

Tilly joined Beth Tzedec with Roslyn in 2004 and continues to attend weekly Bridge games, Shabbat and High Holy Day services and various other programs. All of us at Beth Tzedec wish Tilly continued good health and look forward to celebrating many more smahot with her.

Out of the Cold

We have just concluded the 16th season of Out of the Cold, a volunteer initiative of congregations, faith groups, community members and advocate programs who provide safe refuge, hospitality and emergency shelter to the homeless community throughout Toronto. Our joint venture with Beth Sholom Synagogue was once again very successful, and we now run one of the largest temporary shelters in the city. From early January through late March, we provided over 200 people a delicious and hearty meal prepared by Hartman's and much needed warm winter clothing, boots and sundry items. The 60 guests who slept at the synagogue were fed a delicious breakfast by our gracious volunteers at 5:00 AM. Each guest received a subway token and a bagged lunch prepared by our dedicated afternoon volunteers. Our on-site public health nurse monitored their health and we had outstanding bands who performed during the dinner hour, much to the delight of our guests. The art program, under the direction of Melanie Cheskes, provided an opportunity to produce some very creative and beautiful pieces of art which were showcased at our annual Art Circle Art Show on March 29.

The Out of the Cold Program is an enormous undertaking, one that could not be accomplished without our very dedicated team of volunteers. There were about 150 people who performed a host of functions weekly. We had individuals shopping for supplies, preparing bagged lunches, setting up the Assembly Hall, serving dinner, distributing clothing, providing supervision overnight, and preparing a filling breakfast in the morning. Most importantly, our guests were welcomed into a clean and safe environment filled with volunteers who cared about their needs. I would like to personally thank all of our volunteers who gave their time and energy to help out in this most personally enriching mitzvah. I would also like to acknowledge the very enthusiastic support of the members of the Mosaic Lodge of the Masons, and the wonderful office staff at both Beth Tzedec and Beth Sholom who were never too busy to help out. A special thank you to the following companies or individuals who generously donated much-needed goods: A&B Plastics Company Ltd., Caulfield Apparel Group Ltd., Country Queen Foods, Hermes Bakery, Gamble Produce Limited, F.G. Lister & Company, First Cup Coffee Service, Hartman's Fine Kosher Foods, Tri-Quality Packaging, Bass Pro Shops, McGregor Socks, Pusateri's Fine Foods, Salvation Army, Tribal Sportswear Inc. and The Bargains Group. We are very grateful for the annual generous financial contribution from the Beth Tzedec Men's Club and the used clothing donations received from our members.

I would like to extend a special thank you to the following students who participated in special hesed projects to help

Out of the Cold: Grade 7 students of Bialik Hebrew Day School who conducted a blue jeans drive; Ezra and Jedidiah from CHAT who spearheaded an initiative to collect much needed warm winter jackets; the Grade I students of Associated who decorated place cards to welcome our guests to the shelter; and Beth Tzedec's Bar/Bat Mitzvah group, led by Aily Leibtag, who baked hundreds of muffins, cookies and cakes to serve.

This year we were fortunate to have had the opportunity to share the Out of the Cold experience with a very special group of students from the Diller Teen Fellowship Program. This leadership program pairs 20 exceptional teens from Grades 10 and 11 with 20 teens from a community in Israel. The focus was on learning about poverty and those in need in our community. We hosted all 40 of them on our last evening, and the students learned what it means to help others who are less fortunate and committed to using our model to help the homeless in Israel.

The Beth Tzedec/Beth Sholom Out of the Cold Program is self-funded, and we rely entirely on the generosity of our members and the community for financial donations. Please consider making a donation to this truly meaningful hesed project through the Synagogue office.

Mother's Day Chai Tea & Fashion Show

The seventh annual Mother's Day Chai Tea & Fashion Show, held on Sunday, May 10, was a huge success. A special thank you to the Chai Tea Committee, chaired by Patti Rotman, and the energetic women who have worked tirelessly to ensure the success of this festive afternoon. Over the past seven years, the Out of the Cold Program has been the recipient of proceeds raised from this annual event, with the total amount raised to date being close to an incredible $50,000. We could not achieve the support that we have without such generosity.

Games Afternoon

The Thursday afternoon program continues to be very successful, with 35 participants attending and enjoying Mahjong or Bridge over tea and cookies. Canasta lessons are well underway and are being taught by Dorey Neiss, with more than 25 women having learned how to play. If you are interested in either Mahj or Canasta lessons, please contact me.

Membership Matters

AS WE PREPARE FOR ANOTHER YEAR of membership, we want to thank you for your ongoing commitment to our Beth Tzedec community and to the Jewish community at large. It is vital that we continue to support our synagogue to help ensure continuity for the future.

Beth Tzedec is so much more than just a place to come for the High Holy Days. We are available to you 365 days a year and encourage you to come often.

In addition to the experiences you currently enjoy as a Beth Tzedec member, we challenge you to find three additional opportunities where you can engage with fellow Beth Tzedec members in the upcoming year. Choose from our outstanding services, programs, holiday celebrations, lectures, game afternoons, book club, visits to the museum, committee work, fundraising events, etc. Beth Tzedec has something for everyone!

Outreach to our student members:

This was the third year that some of our out-of-town students received a surprise mishloah manot package (Purim treats) in the mail to help them celebrate the festive holiday. Packages were sent to students studying in Ontario, the U.S. and Israel, and once again, the response was overwhelmingly positive. Thank you to all parents who responded to our request for your children's school addresses.

This initiative is offered to all students 18 years of age and older who are members in good standing. Contact Sheri Federman at 416-781-3514 ext. 220 to provide her with student addresses and look for the mishloah manot flyer and address request that will be available soon.

18 to 34 year old members:

Our 18 to 34 year old members are part of our fixed rate contribution schedule. The fixed rates are intended to be affordable and competitively priced based on age. We understand there could be circumstances when the amount invoiced may not be feasible, so we welcome our young adult members to contact Sheri Federman to confidentially discuss their individual situations. In order for adjustments to be considered, we must speak directly with the invoiced young adult member.

The Membership Committee welcomes your input and values your involvement.

We wish you an enjoyable summer and hope to see you at the Membership Appreciation BBQ & Open House on September 2.

A Farewell from our Shinshinim

A letter from Ofir Hoory and Or Klein

DEAR BETH TZEDEC COMMUNITY:

We have reached the point where we want to sum up the year and take a look back on all the things that we have done as Shinshinim.

It is a year that both of us will never forget; a year of learning, empowering, relationship-building, overcoming difficulties and most importantly having fun!

We arrived here as two 18 year olds, straight from high school, without a lot of experience but with a lot of passion, love and care for the country we come from, and with curiosity to learn and experience what is the meaning of Jewish community outside of Israel.

From that point everything happened very fast. From the moment we arrived you made us feel that this is our home away from home. You taught us how to create a community and how to be part of a community in many ways: how you connect groups of people to Judaism, how you welcome with open arms every person to Shabbat morning prayer, how you gather people of different ages to celebrate holidays together, how you take the younger generations of the congregation and show them how different religions can live together side by side peacefully, and how you show what a mitzvah really is by volunteering.

We want to thank you from the bottom of our hearts for showing us lots of support for the job we do here, for listening to things we have shared with you and helping us bring Israel through our eyes to you.

It is never easy to say goodbye, but we are completing this year with lots of good experiences and knowledge about the Jewish community outside of Israel, and of course the amazing community of Beth Tzedec.

We want to give special thanks to Daniel Silverman and Aily Leibtag for helping us with our programs and schedules, settling us into the community, and for guiding us the whole way.

This has been the best year of our life and you have had a major part in making it this way. We will always remember you, the things you taught us and the tools you gave us. Soon we will both be joining the IDF and will be giving years of our life to the State of Israel. During our army service we are sure that we will use what we learned and experienced here.

You have become our family for the rest of our life and we hope you will feel free to call, text or email anytime and keep in touch!

With much love and appreciation,

—Or and Ofir

Tishah b'Av

The ninth of Av is a bleak day on the Jewish calendar.

THE LEAD-UP TO TISHAH B'AV IS A THREE WEEK PERIOD OF sadness that commemorates the conquest of Jerusalem. It begins with the Fast of the 17th of Tammuz (July 5), which is when the Roman legions breached the wall of the city, and culminates on the 9th of Av (July 26) which marks the destruction of both Temples in Jerusalem. (586 BCE and 69 CE)

Many other sad events in Jewish history came to be collected under the rubric of the disasters of Tisha b'Av. Thus, the 9th of Av came to also commemorate the Edict of Expulsion from England (1092), the Cossack attacks on Polish-Ukrainian Jewry (1648) and the onset of the destabilization of Europe and the Holocaust (1914).

This year, we shall read from the Scroll of Lamentations (Eikhab) on Saturday night, July 25, immediately following Shabbat. On Sunday, July 5, morning services will include kinot (elegies) for Jerusalem. In the afternoon (Minhab) services, we wear tefillin and read the selections from Torah and Prophets for fast days. The fast will conclude at 9:32 PM.

Jewish tradition has also seen Tisha b'Av as a day of potential promise with destruction leading to redemption. We have a tradition that a comforter (menahem) will be born on this day. The period from the 9th of Av to Rosh Hashanah is called the seven weeks of consolation. So may it be for us.

May we be comforted among all those who mourn within the community of Zion and Jerusalem.

TRYing Israel

Noah Aaron, Samantha Charlat, Zachary Friedman and Ariel Roitman share their amazing experiences from the TRY–Tichon Ramah Yerushalayim high school program.

CHOOSING TO PARTICIPATE IN TRY WAS ONE OF THE best decisions we've ever made. Having learned about Israel our whole lives through school, camp and shul, we have received a good understanding of Israel. Now that we are here in Israel, not just learning, but experiencing everything we've grown up to know, living here has strengthened our love for Israel and Jewish education even more.

Our time on this program is constantly balanced between our academic work, tiyulim (field trips) and the Israeli experience. While getting our mandatory high school credits, we spend lots of our time out of the classroom, and exploring the beautiful land that Israel has to offer. From the mountains in the Golan in the north, all the way to the Negev down south, we are constantly opening our minds and absorbing new things. We've explored different communities such as Kibbutz life and the holy city of Tzfat, and we love learning about the different lifestyles that Israelis live.

In addition, living in Jerusalem has given us access to the history of our people through ancient sites like the City of David, and the sites of modern Israeli culture, like the shook. Waking up every morning and having the Jerusalem landscape be the first thing we see when we step outside is breathtaking. On a normal weekday, the streets of Jerusalem are busy with people going to work, running errands and tourists trying to get from site to site. But Saturdays in Jerusalem are some of the most spiritual and calming Shabbats we've ever experienced. Walking to shul on Saturday morning on empty streets and receiving a "Shabbat Shalom" from all people who pass by makes us feel like we have been accepted in the Jewish community.

Also a great thing about being in Israel is how we study the history of Israel. In our Israel Core Course (ICC), we learn the history of our People in chronological order, from the time of Abraham to the present. It is really quite an experience to learn in this fashion because after everything we learn, we go on tiyulim to the sites that we have just studied. Not only is this a fantastic educational experience, but it is also a fantastic opportunity to travel and tour everything in the state.

Overall, TRY has been an amazing experience and we all highly suggest coming to Israel because you will not regret the choice you make.

Men's Club Makes a Difference

Men's Club celebrates Murray Levinter's 90th birthday

Annual Awards Breakfast

The Men's Club's annual Awards Breakfast will be held on Sunday, June 28. Join us as we honour our scholarship recipients.

New Honour Roll Members

Jerry Grammer and Perry Cooper are being added this year to the Men's Club Honour Roll. Both are long-time executive members who have made significant contributions to our Club. Jerry currently serves as Treasurer and Perry is Vice-President.

The Story of the Jews DVD Series

The Men's Club has donated several copies of The Story of the Jews DVD series to the Max & Beatrice Wolfe Library. For information on signing out a copy, contact the Library at 416-781-3514 ext. 225.

2015 Man of the Year

Every year, the Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs honours men who have made significant ongoing contributions in their areas, and we are excited to once again host all of our associated groups on June 14 at 9:30 AM. Mark Lapedus will MC and our own Daniel Silverman will speak on Leaders and Disruptors: Two Different Models of Community and Synagogue Leadership. We are also pleased to announce that we will honour our own Man of the Year, Dr. Sheldon Rotman.

MEN'S CLUB MEMBERSHIP HAS BENEFITS & PRIVILEGES

Men's Club is providing a new updated card for its members. A $36 contribution provides members with:

- A plastic card that includes a three-year Jewish Holiday calendar
- Preferred seating at Men's Club sponsored events

Tributes

Make a donation, send a tribute card and include your listing here to honour your friends and loved ones. For more information about tribute opportunities, contact Avital at 416-781-3511.

Memorial Plaques

Plaques in honour of the following individuals will be installed in the Sanctuary:

Jack Bottler
Hershel Greenspan
Sarah Greenspan
Louis Kirshenblatt

Mark Pupko
Rose Pupko
Gordon Quitt

If you wish to honour the memory of a dear one, a fitting, traditional and dignified remembrance is through a memorial plaque and lamp. Each memorial plaque, bearing the name and yahtzeit date, is mounted on a bronze tablet in the Sanctuary. The lamp is lit on the Shabbat of the week of the yahtzeit, on the day of the yahtzeit, and on the four festivals during the year when Yizkor is recited. To order a memorial plaque, contact Maya Vasserman at 416-781-3514 ext. 216 or mvasserman@beth-tzedec.org.

Everything we do Today is for Tomorrow

Beth Tzedec has a number of opportunities for members wishing to support our tzedakah initiatives. Honour the memory of a loved one by making a contribution to one of our funds or sponsoring breakfast on a yahtzeit. For a complete list of Synagogue funds, please call the office at 416-781-3511.

If you are interested in leaving a legacy for the Congregation to name a special project, youth program or adult education seminar, we would be pleased to help you plan today for tomorrow. Contact our Executive Director, Randy Spiegel at 416-781-3514 ext. 211 to discuss these opportunities in confidence.
